

Special Issue

Membrane-Assisted (Bio)Chemical Process and Technology

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue of the journal Membranes seeks contributions to assess the current state-of-the-art and encourage future developments in the field of membrane-assisted (bio)chemical processes. Topics include but are not limited to membrane development, transport phenomena, process design, modeling and validation, membrane contactors and (bio)reactors, and novel applications. Both original papers and reviews are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are cordially invited to contribute a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Membranes (ISSN 2077-0375). Membranes is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal of membrane technology published monthly online by MDPI. The journal covers the broad aspects of the science and technology of both biological and non-biological membranes, including membrane dynamics and the preparation and characterization of membranes and their applications in water, environment, energy, and food industries. Articles contributing to better understanding of transport processes in all types of membranes are also welcome. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as it is published. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.
