

Special Issue

Stress Management and Interventions

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue seeks papers that advance insights into how organizations can assist in combating stress in ways that benefit both the employees involved and the organization itself. We welcome papers that bring together international researchers from different theoretical and methodological perspectives, from both individual/organizational and cognitive standpoints, in order to explore important actions that employees and managers can take in order to provide a more desirable work environment and improve employees' handling of stress at work. We hope that this Special Issue will facilitate a diverse range of research into how controlling one's perspectives of events can also be an effective strategy in managing stress in a healthy way.
