Innovative Approaches to Modify Polyphenols

Message from the Guest Editors

Polyphenols are highly interesting natural products that can become innovative tools for pharmaceutical/cosmetic/nutraceutical research. This Special Issue aims to focus on chemistry approaches that try to achieve sustainability at the molecular level. Examples include the amelioration of extraction methods and chemical modifications to improve the solubility, bioavailability, shelf-life, and stability of polyphenols.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Molbank is a unique electronic journal that rapidly publishes very short articles, which typically encompass one compound per paper ("short notes") as well as "communications". The aim of this format is to prevent potentially useful scientific information from being lost. In many research groups, there are unpublished compounds that are available, which do not truly fit into a full paper or even a conventional short paper, e.g. because the main work in a series of compounds has already been published. Nevertheless, somebody else might be interested in just this particular compound. Molbank offers an excellent platform for preserving the aforesaid kind of information.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, ESCI (Web of Science), Reaxys, CAPIus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 14.7 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).

Recognition of Reviewers:

reviewers who provide timely, thorough peer-review reports receive vouchers entitling them to a discount on the APC of their next publication in any MDPI journal, in appreciation of the work done.
