Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

It is my great pleasure to be a Guest Editor of the Special Issue in this rapidly progressing field. In the last two decades, various new silicon compounds have been synthesized and their application to materials has also been aggressively investigated. Because of the recent demand for high-performance materials (low-k, high refractive index, thermal stability, and so on), more and more challenges have been observed in this field.

In this Special Issue, I welcome manuscripts regarding recent results in the synthesis, structure elucidation, properties, and application of silicon compounds, and demonstrate their potential.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to experimental organic chemistry, and now in its 25th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on multidisciplinary topics bridging biochemistry, biophysics and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting edge fields in all these areas.
