Nanomaterials in Catalysis: Synthesis and Applications

Message from the Guest Editors

It is our great pleasure to invite you to submit an article for a Special Issue on “Nanomaterials in Catalysis: Synthesis and Applications”, to be published in Molecules. This Special Issue aims to highlight research on nanomaterials and their application in the field of catalysis, which includes electrocatalysis, photocatalysis, photoelectrocatalysis, thermocatalysis, etc. This Special Issue will converge the research on the design of highly efficient catalysts used in energy conversion, environment governance and chemical synthesis and the investigation of the mechanism(s) of the relevant catalysis process. Review articles and perspectives from experts in related fields are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to molecular chemistry, now in its 30th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts, and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on all major fields of molecular chemistry and multidisciplinary topics bridging chemistry with biology, physics, and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting-edge fields in all of these areas.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Reaxys, CaPlus / SciFinder, MarInLit, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore
- Q1 (Organic Chemistry)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.1 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.6 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
