Inorganic Chemistry in Asia

Message from the Guest Editor

It is our pleasure to announce this Special Issue entitled “Inorganic Chemistry in Asia”. This Special Issue will present a high-quality collection of work from scientists in Asian countries, as well as contributions from other countries concerning the advances in inorganic chemistry in Asia (both original research articles and comprehensive review papers are welcome). This Special Issue will discuss new knowledge or cutting-edge developments in the broadly defined inorganic chemistry research field, including coordination chemistry, organometallic chemistry, solid-stage chemistry, bioinorganic chemistry, nuclear and radiochemistry, analytical chemistry, etc. This Special Issue is a forum for the exchange of research findings and innovative ideas in the field.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to experimental organic chemistry, and now in its 25th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on multidisciplinary topics bridging biochemistry, biophysics and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting edge fields in all these areas.

Editor-in-Chief
