

Special Issue

Bioactives and Functional Compounds from Marine Plants

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue will mainly focus on new research and findings around bioactive compounds from marine plants. The topics of interest are from both the industrial and academic field, including nutrition, pharmacy, chemistry, etc. Original new discoveries, such as the identification of new structure bioactive compounds, discovery of new activities and revealing mechanisms, explanation of metabolism and effect targets, clarification of the relationship between structures and functions, and invention of efficient separation methods, are most welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to experimental organic chemistry, and now in its 25th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on multidisciplinary topics bridging biochemistry, biophysics and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting edge fields in all these areas.

Editor-in-Chief

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Reaxys, CaPlus / SciFinder, MarinLit, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Organic Chemistry)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 16.1 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.6 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
