

Joint Special Issue

Biodegradation: Organic, Medicinal and Analytical Chemistry

Message from the Guest Editors

To protect environment, the biodegradable materials have great advantage. However, sometimes, for material stability, biodegradation is a problem, for example, the biomedical materials.

---

Guest Editors

Dr. Shu-Kun Lin

MDPI, St. Alban-Anlage 66, CH-4052 Basel, Switzerland

Prof. Dr. Naozumi Teramoto

Department of Applied Chemistry, Faculty of Engineering, Chiba Institute of Technology, 2-17-1 Tsudanuma, Narashino, Chiba 275-0016, Japan

---

Deadline for manuscript submissions

closed (31 July 2009)

Participating open access journals:

Molecules

---

Impact Factor 4.6

CiteScore 8.6

Indexed in PubMed

mdpi.com/si/171

International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health

---

CiteScore 8.5

Indexed in PubMed

mdpi.com/si/155

Materials

---

Impact Factor 3.2

CiteScore 6.4

Indexed in PubMed

mdpi.com/si/172

