N-Heterocycles: Synthesis, Functionalization, Electrochemical, Spectroscopic Characterization and Mechanistic Investigation

Message from the Guest Editor

N-Heterocycles are a component of some of the most important compounds found, with broad applications in pharmaceutical and agrochemical industries. This Special Issue welcomes the submission of papers based on original research, or reviews that describe the innovative sustainable organic reactions and methodologies of nitrogen heterocycles, their functionalization, and applications, ranging from novel synthetic transformations to the design and development of new materials.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to molecular chemistry, now in its 29th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts, and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on all major fields of molecular chemistry and multidisciplinary topics bridging chemistry with biology, physics, and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting-edge fields in all of these areas.
