New Opportunities for Platinum-Based Anticancer Complexes

Message from the Guest Editors

Despite the development of more targeted and less toxic drugs, traditional chemotherapy with platinum-based drugs is still one of the gold standard approaches for the treatment of cancer. The aim of this Special Issue is to collect and summarize new ideas and future trends in platinum-based complexes and materials, including compounds with bioactive ligands, multifunctional drugs, prodrugs, drug delivery systems, and theranostics metal complexes.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to experimental organic chemistry, and now in its 25th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on multidisciplinary topics bridging biochemistry, biophysics and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting edge fields in all these areas.
