NeuroSci Journal Club: Highlights on Recent Papers

Message from the Collection Editors

The number of papers concerned with neurology and neuroscience published in recent years has exploded. A simple search for 'neuron' in WOS on October 2022 yielded 417883 results, over 60% of which were published in the last 10 years. Every researcher in this field knows that there are opportunities to learn and discover new ideas, new concepts, or new tools from studies made in models beyond lab or clinical ones. Scholars are invited to publish here their research highlights. With this Topical Collection, we aim to collect a selection of the most interesting papers published recently in the neuroscience field. We hope to encourage your curiosity and urge you to read full papers outside of your research area that you may not have read otherwise.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

NeuroSci (ISSN 2673-4087) is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal focusing on neurology and neuroscience. The journal publishes comprehensive reviews, original research papers and high-quality communications. Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their novel findings and concepts in fundamental and clinical neuroscience as much detail as possible. We invite you to read recent articles published in NeuroSci and consider publishing your next paper with us.
