Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

In recent years, it is widely accepted that the daily intake of medicinal herbs, naturally occurring nutrients, and non-nutrients bioactive compounds provide a wide array of benefits to human health. Therefore, the main aim of this special issue is to gather the latest findings on the dietary effects of nutrients and non-nutrients bioactive compounds, medicinal herbs, supplementary diets, and naturally occurring dietary toxins on internal organ metabolism in context to genetic improvement of animal and human health. Authors are invited to submit relevant review articles, systematic reviews, meta-analyses, and original contributions for consideration for inclusion in this Special Issue.
