Mental Health and Psychiatric Disorders of Children and Adolescents

Message from the Guest Editor

This is a Special Issue on Mental Health and Psychiatric Disorders in Children and Adolescents; within, we aim to cover a variety of topics on preserving well-being, resilience and balance for the young in regard to environmental changes, behavioral expressions and health quality. Highlighting mental health challenges for children and adolescents comes as a priority in the post COVID-19 era; therefore, we encourage researchers to contribute to the international scientific dialogue. Numbers all over the globe show an increasing burden of mental health and psychiatric conditions concerning children, adolescent and their families. This also raises concerns about public health indicators, mental health in schools and general quality of life. This Special Issue will demonstrate a variety of topics on this specific scientific area, exploring the research results and best practices that may be used for future strategies in the control of any negative outcomes. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pediatric Reports is a publishing platform for all topics concerning pediatrics, from basic research to bedside care. We aim at targeting a composite audience, from experienced pediatricians to young residents and fellows. Contributions coming from different geographic areas may witness what happens in the pediatric field. Clinical observation of unusual cases will find its tribune, as well as trial reports and results of research related to diseases, which may represent frequent or rare events faced by Pediatricians. Rapid turnaround time will offer the opportunity to make immediately available, on a fully openaccess basis, the results described in the paper, to the entire community. We look forward to continuing the work done in the past years by Pediatric Reports, but also to making the journal grow according to changing expectations and attitudes of both clinicians and researchers who work for a more effective pediatric care.
