Advances in Drug Treatment for Pediatric Gastroenterology

Message from the Guest Editors

The field of pediatric gastroenterology is rapidly evolving, characterized by the introduction of novel biologic agents, enzyme replacement therapies, microbiome-targeted interventions, and the integration of precision medicine, leading to improved patient outcomes and quality of life. This is complemented by substantial progress in diagnostic modalities, nutritional strategies, and the adoption of multidisciplinary individualized treatments. Therefore, this Special Issue seeks to provide a comprehensive platform for the dissemination of innovative research, clinical experiences, and expert perspectives on the latest therapeutic approaches in pediatric gastroenterology. We hope this Special Issue will be a reference source for clinicians and researchers, fostering the exchange of knowledge and best practices addressing the evolving challenges encountered in the treatment of pediatric gastrointestinal disorders.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Because of your expertise in the field of drug sciences, I kindly invite you to consider publishing your current work, in the form of a research article or a review, in the open access electronic journal Pharmaceuticals.

Pharmaceuticals is characterized by an active editorial board and a dynamic editorial staff. Manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a final decision is provided to authors within 4–6 weeks after submission. Papers are published on the web immediately after acceptance. For details on the submission process or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact us.

We hope to handle your contribution to Pharmaceuticals soon.
