Anticoagulants and Antiplatelet Drugs

Message from the Guest Editor

Thrombosis-associated cardiovascular disorders are the leading cause of mortality worldwide. To counteract thrombosis, various anticoagulants and antiplatelet drugs have been successfully introduced into medical practice. New antithrombotic agents addressing alternative targets of the blood coagulation cascade and platelet surface receptors are still in the (pre)clinical developmental stage. This Special Issue aims to cover recent advances achieved in the field of anticoagulant and antiplatelet drug development. It covers previously unpublished experimental works in this field as well as theoretical papers assessing the current status of existing antithrombotic agents. Dr. Dmitrii V. Kalinin

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Because of your expertise in the field of drug sciences, I kindly invite you to consider publishing your current work, in the form of a research article or a review, in the open access electronic journal Pharmaceuticals.

Pharmaceuticals is characterized by an active editorial board and a dynamic editorial staff. Manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a final decision is provided to authors within 4–6 weeks after submission. Papers are published on the web immediately after acceptance. For details on the submission process or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact us.

We hope to handle your contribution to Pharmaceuticals soon.
