

Special Issue

Prevention, Diagnosis and Treatment of Pediatric Diseases

Message from the Guest Editor

The rapidity with which new information is acquired, which is useful for a more precise diagnosis and more effective prevention and treatment of diseases affecting children and adolescents, requires those who follow and monitor the health of the pediatric population, periodic updates that are easily accessible and of high quality. Furthermore, new technologies (e.g., telemedicine, artificial intelligence) have an increasingly significant impact today in drug development of pediatric patients with acute and chronic illness. The aim of this Special Issue of Pharmaceuticals is to present a collection of articles that provide a current snapshot of the research in the pediatrics field. Manuscripts covering all aspects of research relating to medicinal chemistry and related drug sciences in pediatric diseases are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Because of your expertise in the field of drug sciences, I kindly invite you to consider publishing your current work, in the form of a research article or a review, in the open access electronic journal Pharmaceuticals. Pharmaceuticals is characterized by an active editorial board and a dynamic editorial staff. Manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a final decision is provided to authors within 4–6 weeks after submission. Papers are published on the web immediately after acceptance. For details on the submission process or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact us. We hope to handle your contribution to Pharmaceuticals soon.
