Recent Advances in Regenerative Pharmacology

Message from the Guest Editors

Regenerative medicine is an emerging multidisciplinary field that aims to restore the physiological functions of damaged/diseased human cells, tissues, or organs. Many cellular, genetic, engineering, and clinical strategies have been used to improve therapeutic efficacy. The proposed topics include, but are not limited to: design and preparation of regenerative medicine biomaterials; biofabrication or 3D printing in pharmaceutical product design; advanced biomaterials for controlled drug delivery; unique scaffolds for target delivery of bioactive agents; effects of therapeutics on stem cell, organoid, or engineered tissue maintenance, differentiation, and functions; engineered constructs for various tissue regeneration; biotechnology or therapeutic for stimulating endogenous tissue regeneration.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Because of your expertise in the field of drug sciences, I kindly invite you to consider publishing your current work, in the form of a research article or a review, in the open access electronic journal Pharmaceuticals. Pharmaceuticals is characterized by an active editorial board and a dynamic editorial staff. Manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a final decision is provided to authors within 4–6 weeks after submission. Papers are published on the web immediately after acceptance. For details on the submission process or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact us. We hope to handle your contribution to Pharmaceuticals soon.
