Trends in Pharmacological Treatments for Acute Coronary Syndrome

Message from the Guest Editor

The rate of mortality associated with ischemic heart disease (IHD) has decreased in Europe over the last few decades; however, IHD remains the single most common cause of death worldwide. Indeed, the in-hospital mortality rates of unselected patients with STEMI vary between 4 and 12%. Pharmaceuticals is launching a Special Issue on “Trends in Pharmacological Treatments for Acute Coronary Syndrome”, which will be dedicated to the following specific issues:

- gender differences;
- MINOCA;
- quality indicators for reducing the gap between optimal guideline-based treatment and actual care;
- non-invasive imaging for acute and long-term management; and
- the special patients subset (patients taking an oral anticoagulant, patients with renal insufficiency, the elderly, etc.)
