Development of Systems for Selenoproteins Production

Message from the Guest Editor

In recent years, we have experienced a sudden new interest in selenoproteins, including new technologies targeting selenoproteins, as well as the development of therapies towards selenoproteins. We invite both reviews and original articles shedding light on the challenges and opportunities for the development of new systems for selenoprotein production. Topics include the development of new site-specific insertion of selenocysteine, the development of new modified Sec-tRNA technologies, improving current methods for insertion of selenocysteine, site-selective modification of selenocysteine, the production of therapeutic selenoproteins, and topics beyond pharmaceutical applications. The collection of manuscripts will be published as a Special Issue of the journal.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Because of your expertise in the field of drug sciences, I kindly invite you to consider publishing your current work, in the form of a research article or a review, in the open access electronic journal Pharmaceuticals. Pharmaceuticals is characterized by an active editorial board and a dynamic editorial staff. Manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a final decision is provided to authors within 4–6 weeks after submission. Papers are published on the web immediately after acceptance. For details on the submission process or any other matter, please do not hesitate to contact us. We hope to handle your contribution to Pharmaceuticals soon.
