

Special Issue

Genome-Edited Adult Stem Cells: Next-Generation Advanced Therapy Medicinal Products

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will collect selected contributions of GE-ATMPs oriented toward clinical development, manufacturing, optimization of GE tools for clinical application, innovative approaches for the generation of novel genome-edited adult cells, and evaluation of quality, safety, and regulatory aspects of GE-ATPMs. We are pleased to invite review articles or original research papers which address the abovementioned topics and look forward to reading your contributions.
