Message from the Guest Editors

I am pleased to invite you to contribute to a Special Issue of the peer-reviewed, open-access journal Pharmaceutics, which will be devoted to “Research progress of nanomedicine and its pharmacokinetics”.

This Special Issue encourages scientists and researchers to publish their experimental results in order to capture the current state of the art in this trendy research area. All data concerning the absorption, distribution, and elimination but also physiological-based pharmacokinetics (PBPK) and population pharmacokinetics (popPK) studies of nanomedicines are encouraged.

Globally, all original research articles and reviews, including the pharmacokinetics of organic and inorganic nanomedicines, are welcome.

We look forward to receiving your contribution
