Prodrugs and Molecular Hybrids as Innovative Strategies in Medicinal Chemistry

Message from the Guest Editors

Prodrug Design is a well-known strategy of chemically modifying the structure of a drug, which is called the "parent drug." This approach makes it possible to optimize the physicochemical and pharmacological properties of a parent drug, resulting in improvement of its pharmacokinetic characteristics and reduction of In this Special Issue "Prodrugs and Molecular Hybrids as Innovative Strategies in Medicinal Chemistry", we aim to collect both original articles and up-to-date reviews that focus on the design, synthesis, physicochemical and biological characterization of novel prodrugs and/or molecular hybrids that have been shown to overcome many limitations related to the pharmaceutical, pharmacokinetics and/or pharmacodynamics phase of the parent drugs. As , we encourage researchers working in this area to contribute their recent studies to this Special Issue of Pharmaceutics.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPIus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1 (Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.7 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.5 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
