Recent Developments of Nanovaccine Candidates on Immunology

Message from the Guest Editors

The scope of this Special Issue is focused on the development of novel nanocarrier-based strategies to induce antigen specific immune responses, which can be explored through in vitro and in vivo techniques. We encourage the submission of manuscripts that give detailed descriptions of the development of nanoparticle-based systems and of the studies performed to test their immune-related effects. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the development of novel and different types of nanoparticle-based formulations, cell-targeting approaches, strategies for immuno-modulation considering both stimulation or suppression of the immune system, studies considering the immunological effects of nanocarriers, and nanoformulation designs to fight inflammatory processes. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1 (Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 14.9 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
