Nasal Drug and Vaccine Delivery: Opportunities, Advantages and Limitations of Nanomaterials

Message from the Guest Editor

Continuous advances in the nanotechnology field, particularly related to polymeric nanobiomaterials, are greatly associated with the development of new particulate delivery systems for the nasal delivery of drugs and antigens. This Special Issue welcomes original research papers and review articles highlighting recent developments and innovations in the area of nasal drug delivery. Articles covering the synthesis, development, physicochemical characterization and in vitro and in vivo evaluation of new drug/vaccine delivery systems based on polymeric nanomaterials, designed for the nasal route of administration, are welcomed. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceutics and biopharmaceutics. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1 (Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 14.9 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
