

Special Issue

Advanced Pharmaceutical Science and Technology in Germany

Message from the Guest Editors

Pharmaceutical sciences and technology has had a long and successful tradition in Germany, including all aspects related to drugs and drug products. This regional Special Issue aims to represent the vast variety of research within this field currently ongoing in Germany. We encourage scientists from academia as well as industry to submit their latest results primarily focused on but not limited to drug delivery, preformulation/formulation, and biopharmaceutics/pharmacokinetics, including 3R-concepts, pharmaceutical biotechnology, formulation design, manufacturing science, materials science, nanomaterials, pharmaceutical natural products, and personalized medicine. In doing so, we hope to generate a broad collection of high-quality articles which demonstrate the powerful potential of scientists working in the field of pharmaceutical sciences and technology in Germany. However, apart from just collecting research results, we would be happy if this regional Special Issue could stimulate a lively discussion between the authors and the readers and help to further strengthen the scientific network.
