Advances in Clinical Pharmacogenetics

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to invite you to contribute to this Special Issue of Pharmaceutics (2021 impact factor: 6.342) entitled “Advances in Clinical Pharmacogenetics”. Pharmacogenetics aims to optimize the selection of drugs and correct doses to achieve a greater safety and effectiveness of therapies through the use of patients’ genetic data. The increased understanding of the effect of genetic variants in drug responses has allowed implementing pharmacogenetics in the clinical setting, showing the benefits of personalized medicine. This Special Issue aims to collect articles to increase the knowledge of any field in the pharmacogenetics area and its implementation in the clinical setting. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following: pharmacogenetics, clinical implementation of pharmacogenetics, identification of genetic factors associated with drug responses, data analysis in the clinical setting, barriers and opportunities, population diversity in pharmacogenetics. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.
