Drug Delivery for Wound Healing: Recent Advances

Message from the Guest Editor

It gives me great pleasure to announce the launch of a new Special Issue on “Drug Delivery in Wound Healing: Recent Advances”, a research area which is both topical and of great significance in our field and which focuses on new scaffold materials and new drugs covering several phases of wound repair discovered in the last five years. Original contributions from lab investigations or even preclinical data are invited. The aim of this Special Issue is to collect highly cited papers and stimulate more scientists, wound professionals, and industrial partners to invest in this area. I look forward to your contribution.
