Molecular Imaging in Biopharmaceutical Research and Development

Message from the Guest Editor

The goal of this Special Issue is to present the latest advances in using molecular imaging for biopharmaceutical research and development, with the ultimate aim of further accelerating biopharmaceutical development by using molecular imaging and personalized therapy. We welcome reviews and the original research papers regarding novel and innovative molecular imaging methods for profiling and characterizing the distribution and effect of any of the biopharmaceuticals mentioned above. Molecular imaging modalities can also be included, and we also seek state-of-the-art artificial intelligence methods, combined with molecular imaging. Along with biopharmaceuticals, emerging biological entities, such as exosomes, liposomes, and microbiomes are also encouraged for submission.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1
(Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 14.9 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
