Nano Drug Delivery System

Message from the Guest Editor

Over the past few decades, a variety of approaches for efficient drug delivery systems have been revealed by providing targeted and increasing bioavailability, as well by improving the pharmacological profile of drugs. In particular, the application of nano materials as drug carriers or nano delivery systems has brought significant advancements in the field of drug delivery research. For example, the design of smart functional nanocarriers in drug delivery systems for use in therapeutic applications is attracting an ever-increasing amount of attention for use in targeted treatments and controlled releases. In this Special Issue, articles are invited to provide a recent insight into the smart and advanced drug delivery nanosystems which are improving therapeutic efficiency.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1
(Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 14.9 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
