Nanotechnology in Engineering and Medicine

Message from the Guest Editor

Nanotechnology is an exciting area in science, which has many applications in engineering and medicine. Nanoparticle based systems are emerging as a powerful tool for engineering applications like nanomachining and drug therapy for treating diseases like cancer, neuropathic pain, spot-fat reduction, and cardiovascular diseases. Nanoparticles are also widely used in Polymers are widely employed in TDD approaches for successful delivery to target tissues and to ensure optimal drug delivery for the desired period of time. The aim of this Special Issue is to cover the cutting-edge research activities and recent research advancements in the area of nanotechnology in engineering and medicine.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Editor-in-Chief

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1
(Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 14.9 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.3 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
