Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Pharmacy—an open-access pharmacy education and practice journal—is preparing a Special Issue entitled "Psychotropic Medication Adherence". Medication adherence is a major concern when treating patients with behavioral health disorders, one in which every team member must be involved. This issue will feature research and reviews regarding the current knowledge base regarding psychotopic medication adherence and potential solutions. I invite you to consider submitting an article related to psychotropic medication adherence to further the discussion regarding innovative solutions and techniques to assist patients.
