Interactions between Plants and Soil Microorganisms

Message from the Guest Editors

We are accepting submissions for an upcoming Plants special issue entitled "Interactions between Plants and Soil Microorganisms". In this issue, we will explore pathogenic and mutualistic interactions (both associative and intracellular) between plants and prokaryotes, fungi or viruses. Topics of interest include but are not limited to plant-microbe chemical signalling, gene expression in plant-microbe interactions, hormonal control of interactions, microbial virulence and symbiosis factors, plant immune responses, and microbial and plant stress responses

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Plants is an open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to plant function, its physiology, biology, taxonomy, stresses, and its interactions with other organisms. It publishes original research articles, reviews, reports, and conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. In original research papers, it is important that full experimental details are provided. We also encourage timely reviews and commentaries on topics of interest to the plant research community.
