Natural Compounds for Natural Polymers II

Message from the Guest Editor

To build on the success of the Special Issue in Polymers, "Natural Compounds for Natural Polymers", and to provide a continuity of this popular topic on natural polymers, we are pleased to announce the opening of this Special Issue for the 2nd volume on this topic. The Special Issue is mainly focused on the current understanding of the structure/processing/properties relationships in (bio)polymers containing naturally occurring compounds. Full research articles and comprehensive review articles are welcome.
