

Special Issue

Piezoelectric Polymers and Devices

Message from the Guest Editors

Piezoelectric polymers and devices have been widely studied and applied as sensors, energy harvesters, and generators with flexible and simple processes. In recent years, the research community has demonstrated a great deal of interest in finding developing new methods for the modification of piezoelectric polymers and composites, as well as developing new structures and functions for the devices. This Special Issue on “Piezoelectric Polymers and Devices” is dedicated to the most recent research regarding the design, preparation and properties of piezoelectric polymers, piezoelectric composites and piezoelectric films. The issue also includes studies on the fabrication and applications of flexible piezoelectric devices.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Since its foundation in 2009, Polymers has developed into an internationally renowned, extremely successful open access journal. The editorial team and the editorial board dedicatedly combine open-access publishing and high-quality rigorous peer reviewing. The performance of the journal has proven this strategy to be well-suited and highly successful. This is reflected in the increasing impact factor of Polymers, the most recent one being 4.9.

I would like to invite you to contribute to the success of the journal by sending us your high quality research papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.
