Advances in Environmental Pollution and Control Processes

Message from the Guest Editors

With the rapid development of economies, the global ecological environment is facing unprecedented pressure. In order to realize sustainable development, investigating the causes for environmental pollution and treatment methods have attracted more and more attention. This Special Issue of "Advances in Environmental Pollution and Control Processes" is the premier platform for the presentation of new advances and research results in the fields of theoretical, experimental, and applied environment pollution and control. This topic focuses on the new science and technologies for the major environmental issues and the latest research achievements and perspectives.
