Microbial Production of Biofuels

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue on “Microbial Production of Biofuels” intends to focus on the novel advancements in the pretreatments of feed stocks, cultivation techniques, metabolic engineering, and genetic engineering of the species towards enhanced biofuel production capabilities and economic. Topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The development of feedstock for the fermentation process
- The development of a medium and optimization for the enhanced economy of the process
- Enhanced cultivation techniques for the enhanced conversion of feedstock into biofuels
- The genetic modification of species for the development of efficient and economic processes.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute either a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Processes (ISSN 2227-9717). Processes is published in open access format – research articles, reviews, and other content are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited, free access to the content. As an open access journal, Processes is supported by the authors and their institutes through the payment of article processing charges (APCs) for accepted papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Editor-in-Chief
