

Special Issue

Biochemical Processes for Sustainability

Message from the Guest Editors

The present Special Issue will include cutting-edge advancements in how chemistry can help us achieve sustainable development goals. Research in this field is directed towards the development of new methods, new chemicals or new engineering routes for more ecological and economic products, processes or services. We invite authors to submit original research and review articles that promote biochemical processes for sustainable development goals. We are particularly interested in articles that explore biochemical technologies that promote circular economy, innovative environmental technologies for water treatment and pollution control, process intensification, etc. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Biocatalysis.
- Nanotechnology.
- Environmental technologies for water treatment and pollution control.
- Biofertilizers.
- Microbial fuel cells.
- Biofuels.
- Chemicals in healthcare.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute either a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Processes (ISSN 2227-9717). Processes is published in open access format – research articles, reviews, and other content are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited, free access to the content. As an open access journal, Processes is supported by the authors and their institutes through the payment of article processing charges (APCs) for accepted papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

Open Access:

free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, Inspec, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

CiteScore - Q2 (Chemical Engineering (miscellaneous))
