10th Anniversary of Processes: Recent Advances in the Optimisation and Control of Integrated Energy Systems and Energy Markets

Message from the Guest Editors

The aim of this Special Issue is to bring forth theoretical advances, applications and tools in the field of energy systems and energy markets. Particular emphasis will be placed on novel modeling, control and optimization frameworks; approaches and techniques that systematically explore various aspects of a wide range of energy systems; and energy markets in a holistic, integrated way. Furthermore, real-life industrial applications, which illustrate the applicability and potential benefits of the integrated approach, are most welcome. Tools which incorporate theoretical developments, models and methods may also be included. This Special Issue will attract the interest of (i) researchers in academia or industry, (ii) industrial practitioners and (iii) educational purposes both in academia and industry. Here is the submission guideline: Manuscripts are expected to be submitted at <https://susy.mdpi.com/user/manuscripts/upload/>, choosing journal "Processes", section "Energy Systems" and Research Topics "10th Anniversary of Processes: Recent Advances in the Optimisation and Control of Integrated Energy Systems and Energy Markets".
