

Special Issue

Advances in Lipid Chemistry: Extraction, Process and Analysis

Message from the Guest Editors

This issue aims to emphasize the potential role of novel analytical techniques as a crucial tool to elucidate the complexity of this phenomenon and guide the development of processes that are able to produce lipids with desired composition and quality. Topics include, but are not limited to:

- Emerging analytical methods to identify early lipid oxidation;
- The effects of sustainable extraction and fractionation methods on lipid composition and quality;
- The effects of processing conditions on lipid composition and quality.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute either a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Processes (ISSN 2227-9717). Processes is published in open access format – research articles, reviews, and other content are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited, free access to the content. As an open access journal, Processes is supported by the authors and their institutes through the payment of article processing charges (APCs) for accepted papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Giancarlo Cravotto

Department of Drug Science and Technology, University of Turin, Via P. Giuria 9, 10125 Turin, Italy
