Fluid Dynamics and Processes of Heat Transfer Enhancement

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, titled “Fluid Dynamics and Processes of Heat Transfer Enhancement”, seeks high-quality works focusing on the development and use of nanofluids (monofluids and hybrid nanofluids) and heat-promoting methods for various applications related to thermal systems and equipment. Studies (experimental and numerical) on the advancement of electric and magnetic fields effects on cooling and the formulation of superior nano-based thermal media (single-particle and hybrid nanofluids that are eco-friendly) are welcome. Potential topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Building and personal thermal comfort;
- Nano-phase change materials;
- Thermal energy storage;
- AI-driven and optimization-related studies;
- Process to enhance heat transfer.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute either a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Processes (ISSN 2227-9717). Processes is published in open access format – research articles, reviews, and other content are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited, free access to the content. As an open access journal, Processes is supported by the authors and their institutes through the payment of article processing charges (APCs) for accepted papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.
