Design of an After-Treatment Catalyst System for Combustion Applications

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue on “Design of an After-Treatment Catalyst System for Combustion Applications” is to promote the research and progress in the area of after-treatment catalyst systems by bringing together academic scientists and industry working in the catalysis and process engineering fields in developing robust and cheaper alternatives to the current catalytic combustion problem, either stationary systems such as boilers or mobile combustion systems such as vehicles. The Special Issue will be focusing on the catalyst materials development, characterisation and testing and in the design of the reactor and heat transfer system in after-treatment catalyst systems.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute either a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Processes (ISSN 2227-9717). Processes is published in open access format – research articles, reviews, and other content are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited, free access to the content. As an open access journal, Processes is supported by the authors and their institutes through the payment of article processing charges (APCs) for accepted papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.
