

Special Issue

Systematic Theology and Social Ethics: On the Unity of Theory and Praxis

Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- The overcoming of the modern theory–praxis split through systematic theology.
- Intersection between social ethics and systematic theology.
- The social and community ethics that emerge from the thought of the main systematic theologians.
- The consequences of systematic theology for the relationship between man and the rest of creation (environmentalism).
- The consequences of systematic theology for politics and economics.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
