

Special Issue

Spirituality as Core to Mental Health and Wellbeing; Cultivating Awareness in Interventions

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue we welcome original articles on methods for the cultivation of spirituality that support the growth of spirituality per se, as well as those that impact mental health and wellbeing. The interventions studied may span from treatment, to prevention, wellness, and to formation. This Special Issue welcomes innovative articles that, through the context of intervention science, reveal conceptual understandings of the nature and impact of lived spirituality. We request that, prior to submitting a manuscript, interested authors initially submit a proposed title and an abstract of 200–300 words summarizing their intended contribution. Please send this to the or to the Assistant Editor of Religions. Abstracts will be reviewed by the for the purposes of ensuring proper fit within the scope of the Special Issue. Full manuscripts will undergo double-blind peer review. We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
