Reconsidering Hindu–Christian Relations

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite article submissions highlighting illuminating case studies in Hindu–Christian studies. In particular, we seek articles drawing upon case studies that provoke or allow for reflection on and/or reappraisals of 1) the nature of “Hindu” and “Christian” identity; 2) the character of Hindu–Christian interactions; 3) the historical or contemporary politics of Hindu–Christian relating; 4) the appropriateness of comparison, comparative religion, or comparative theological categories; 5) the state of “Hindu–Christian Studies”, and/or the suitability of regnant terms, concepts, and comparisons in the field; 7) the role of gender, race, caste, and/or sexuality in Hindu–Christian encounters; 8) the potential of Hindu–Christian dialogue; and 9) dual or hybrid identities, multiple belonging, and shared practices. About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
