

Special Issue

Wisdom Traditions, Religion, and the Global Era

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue calls scholars (academic or activist) to participate in dialogues regarding the roles of wisdom traditions in local, national, and international controversy and conflict. Topics may include, but are not restricted to, the following:

- Is it possible to stand beside each other in Yancy's dialogue of love given the differences in wisdom traditions?
- What would be required to engage in the complex and challenging love dialogues oriented around peace?
- Can wisdom traditions enter into social and political dialogues as deescalating partners rather than escalating ones?
- What, if any, are the obligations of religious scholars in current social and political situations?

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
