Cancer and Theology: Personal and Pastoral Perspectives

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to invite you to participate in a special edition of Religions that will offer pastoral and theological insights on cancer. Original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Biblical perspectives on disease or illness and their application to cancer.
- Theological perspectives on healing and prayer with respect to cancer.
- Human vulnerability and weakness in the midst of cancer.
- Cancer and spirituality, discipleship, and lifestyle.
- Cancer and hope, personal eschatology.
- Cancer and human suffering.

We request that, prior to submitting a manuscript, interested authors initially submit a proposed title and an abstract of 200–300 words summarizing their intended contribution. Please send these to the , or to the Assistant Editor, Ms. Violet Li (violet.li@mdpi.com), of Religions. Abstracts will be reviewed by the for the purposes of ensuring a proper fit within the scope of the Special Issue. Full manuscripts will undergo double-blind peer review.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
