Worship and Faith Formation

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue is open to any topical study of worship and faith formation. The following questions are suggestive in this Special Issue: How is faith formed in worship? How do the Word and the Lord's Supper, prayers and offerings, confession of faith and hymns in worship affect the formation of faith in individuals and communities? How do ceremonies and rituals affect the formation of faith? How does the audience in the pew learn about religious knowledge? From a view of neuroscience, what is going on in people's minds and consciousness in the worship? What role does worship play in the faith-forming process of children, young people, middle-aged people, the elderly, and people with intellectual disabilities? What is the relationship between personal faith formation and community faith formation? How do the religious ceremonies of all generations, which have recently been receiving attention, affect the formation of faith? How is one's ethical self formed through worship?.....

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
