- Positive religious and spiritual development in youth;
- Biblical perspectives on youth;
- Youth and parents;
- Dimensions of youth development and theology;
- Theological insights on youth;
- Faith in young people;
- Influence of the family on youth;
- Education as a contribution to youth;
- Young people, faith, and family life;
- The intersection between theology and pedagogy in youth;
- Effects of secularization on youth;
- Digital faith: social media, young people, and faith;
- Intergenerational education for faith;
- The family as the cradle for the faith of youth;
- Education as a source of inspiration to youth;
- Theological perspectives on youth in different religions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
