

Special Issue

University of Konstanz, International Conference (25 October, 31 October, 8 November 2024): Emerging Historical Perspectives on Christian-Muslim Interactions in and Around the Mediterranean (c. 630–1614)

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue focuses on the inter-connection between the Ottoman world and the Western Europe in the Quattrocento and Cinquecento; in specific, the idea is to work on the reciprocal imaginary that the Ottoman sultanate and the European–Italian potentates reciprocally played in this specific age.

The argument is open to a multi-disciplinary approach able to consider the historical, religious, political, artistic, and literary approaches as international relations topics, with the task of emphasizing an increase in the academic debate on it.

This Special Issue aims to expand the mutual interaction between Europe and the Ottomans starting from the bilateral influence and the alterity visio that they played to each other in this historical phase of military conflict, as well as the commercial and economic interaction, and cultural and political impact between the end of Middle Ages and early modernity.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
