

Special Issue

Buddhist Wizards and Magic

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue aims to bring together diverse research on this topic from different Buddhist cultures and historical periods and invites empirical and theoretical studies to assemble a collection of multidisciplinary papers. Potential topics might include: biographies of seminal Buddhist wizards; translations of spell books; lived religious experiences related to healing and magic; uses of yantra; roles of women as Buddhist wizards; discussions of visual and material culture; theoretical discussions of the usefulness (or lack thereof) of such concepts as “magic”, “wizards”, etc. To be considered for publication in this Special Issue, please email the guest editor, Tom Patton, at tpatton@cityu.edu.hk with the abstract of your article.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
